EXPERT BIRDERS' CHECKLIST

You may be familiar with the flamingos, peacocks, and penguins that strut and waddle through the Bronx Zoo's exhibits, but what about that heron, duck, or hawk you just spotted swimming in the Bronx River, or flying overhead? The Bronx Zoo is full of wild birds. Its 265 acres are an important rest stop along the mid-Atlantic flyway, and a green respite from the surrounding big city. While you're visiting, keep your eyes peeled for these birds that share our grounds.
